A quote from the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department.

The Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department Mental Evaluation Teams (MET) unit is considered an emergency mobile crises response unit. With 34 teams Countywide, we respond daily to 911- calls and address mental health crises in real time. The MET is currently experiencing a critical shortage of properly equipped vehicles in support of this public safety mission. Public safety may be jeopardized if we do not get a minimum of six SUV's properly upfitted at the earliest possible opportunity. MET has 6 mission-critical emergency response vehicles grounded and unable to currently be used for 911 level responses due to lacking hardware and installation of upfitting requirements to convert civilian platform vehicles into emergency vehicles for first responder use. TROY PRODUCTS is working to address this critical need ASAP.
